

Catharine
Susan's
Little
Holiday

Catharine Susan's
little holiday.

by

Kathleen Ainslie

Castell Brothers Ltd
London

New York - Frederick A. Stokes Company.

Designed in England.

Printed in Bavaria.

*Oh! what a business
it was packing up
all my clothes -*

"Please, Mr Ticket-man,
give me a ticket for
the sea-side."

and he did -

- - - - -
When I got there -

Oh! it was lovely!

tomorrow I'll bathe -

Tomorrow I did!

A nice Sailor man said -
"Come in my boat, my beautiful lass?"
And I said -
"Yes, please" -

Oh!
Oh!
O-o-o-o-h!

Do you think I was drowned dead?

Not me!

*And I soon dried up
in the sun.*

I took a walk

in a lovely wood.

But Oh! what's this!

*a frog!
a monster frog!!!*

But a brave, Brave Soldier man jumped
over the hedge and
saved me!

So we had tea out
of my basket - and
I gave him all my
cake -

And then —
one day I had a perfectly lovely Swing! —

but a horrid farmer
man came and
scolded me hard
about it —

then soon he got nice
and took me for a ride in his haycart.

When my holiday
was over they all
came to see me off!

I kissed my hands
10000000000000 times!

x x x x x x x x x x

it is sad to say Goodbye.

an ebook published by Project Gutenberg Australia

