

"What I did"

"What I did"

by

Kathleen

Ainslie

Castell Brothers Ltd.

London

New York - Frederick J. Stokes Company

Designed in England.

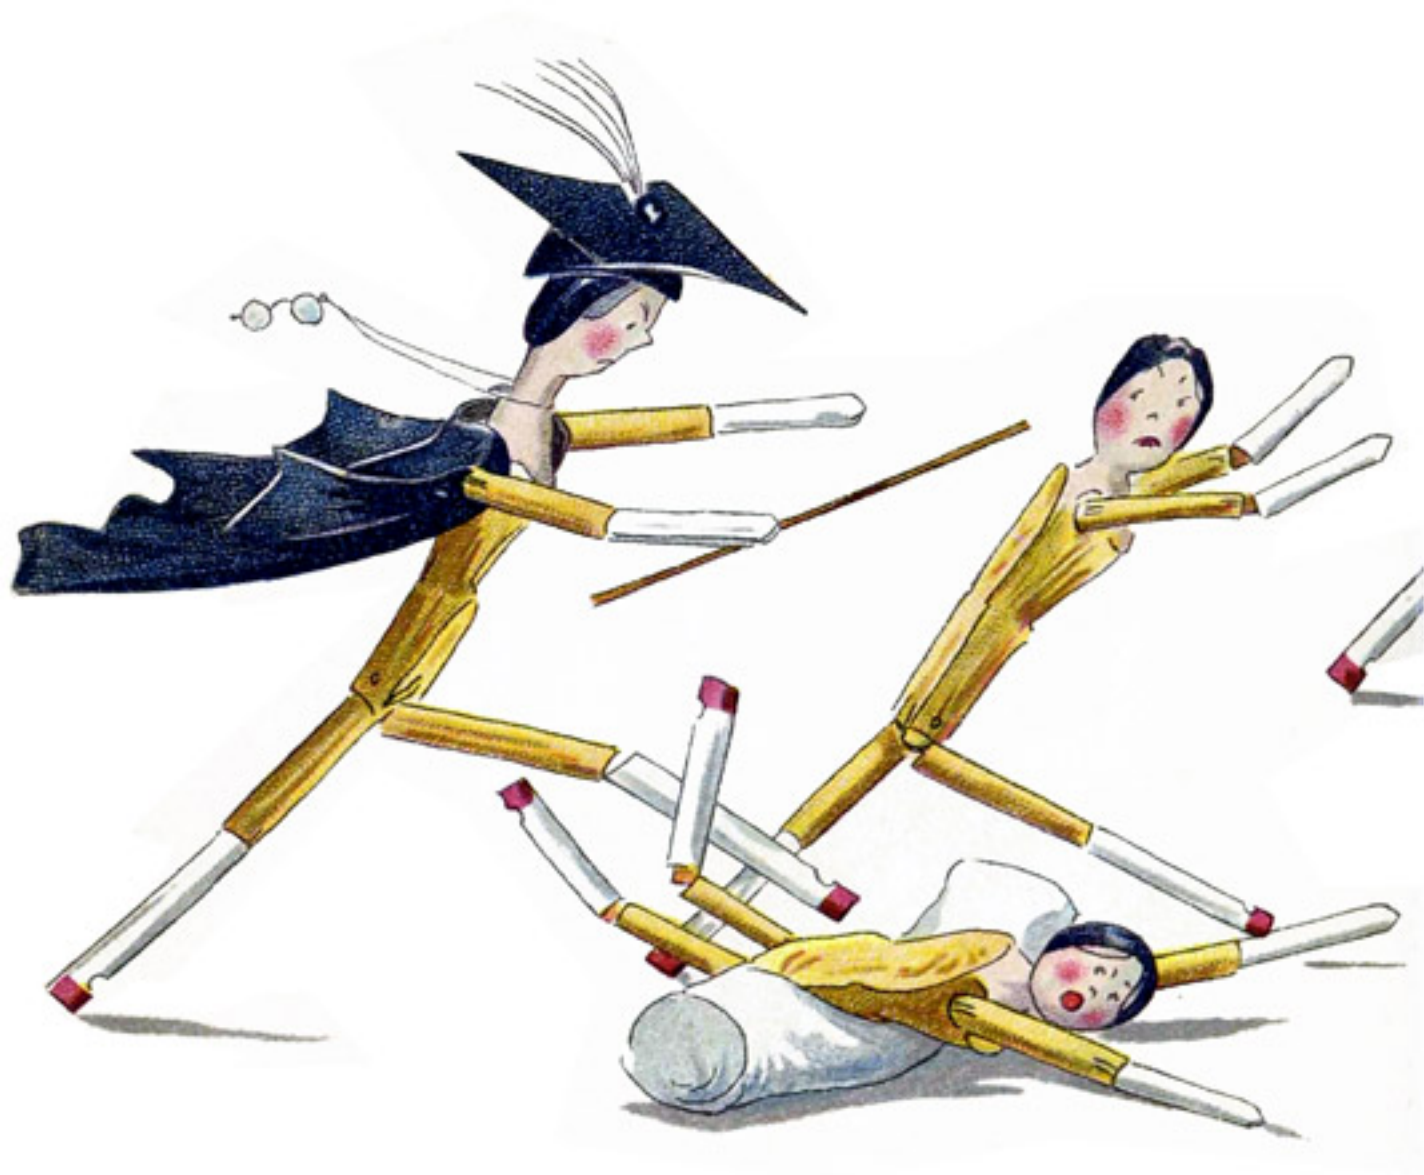

Printed in Bavaria.

'You bet, Ma bought
me a new hat -
Old Goggles is a
guy!'

'I say - dry up you fellows -
here - stow it,
you duffers!

"Crikey! Didn't they catch it hot!"

Sometimes I don't mind lessons!

Godgy and me put
that up — it was a complete success — at least some of it was, not afterwards I mean —

This hard lines having
to fag for that beast
Tomkins—

"It's no good fumbling—you've got to go—"

Tomkins
never got caught -"

'but you can forget
your sorrows when
they let you go in
the bath what wets
you all over —
it's just ripping!'

'Podgy - that's my chum, said "Let us go into the beautiful country
and try it ourselves."

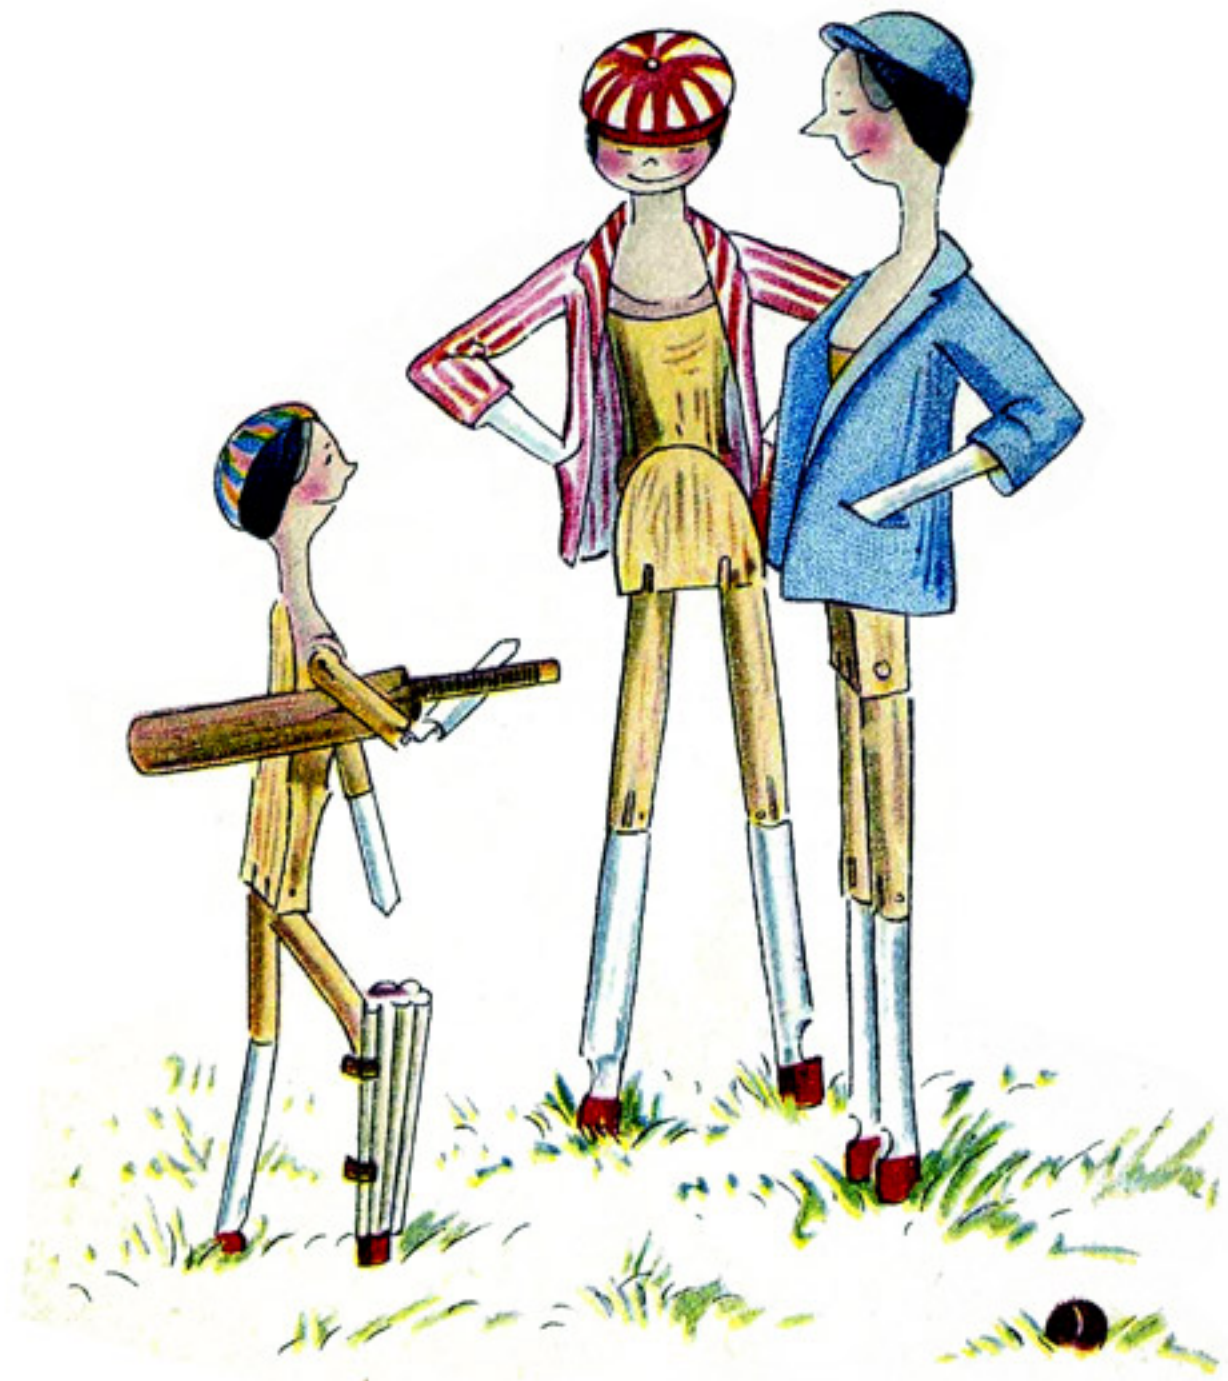

'but we did not do it
as long as we expected
and Todgy said 'I am glad it is not
tea time yet.' -

"We played cricket
with the lower II—

"Buck up boys, we'll lick 'em!"

I made 5 — and
two of the big fellows said
"Jolly good — young'un".

Exams is not —
except for holidays
coming after.

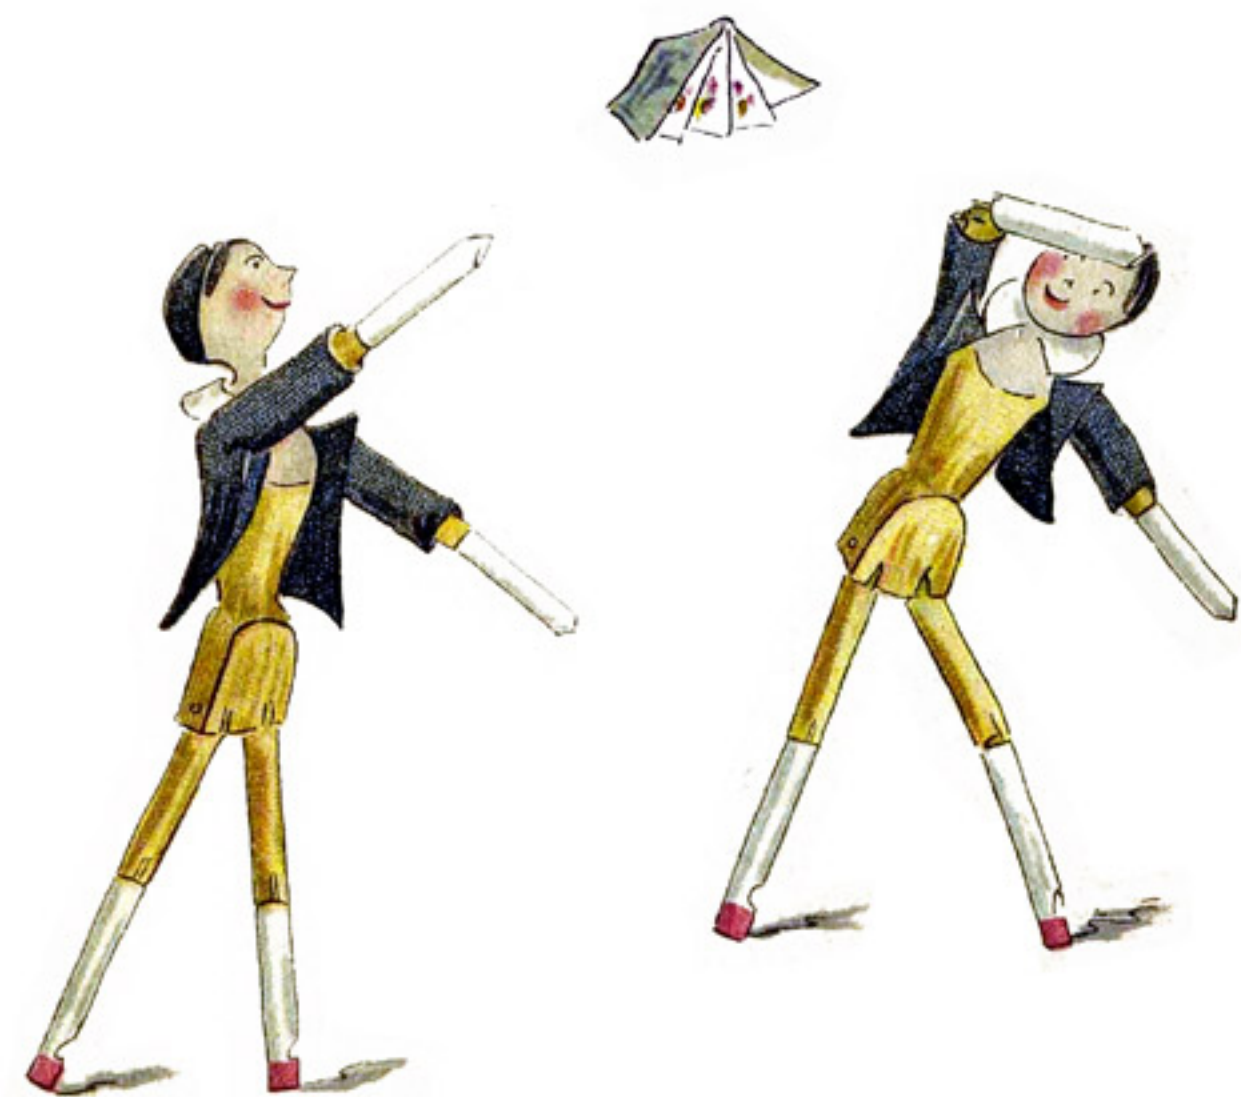

old Goggles said
"Goodbye boys"

and he didn't see Todgy!!

The End.

of this book -

an ebook published by

Project Gutenberg Australia