

Me and Catharine
Susan
earn an honest

Me
and Catharine Susan earns an honest
penny-

by Kathleen Ainslie

Castell Brothers Ltd
London

New York - Frederick A. Stokes Company

Empty plates!!

and not a penny left -

Something must be done at once -

so we put up a notice
and set to work -

Lots of people came but -

Somehow they never came again!

so -

We thought we would keep a 5 o'clock
tea shop in our garden-

People always like
tea in a bower -

But after the smash
we gave it up -

and then we began
to be market gardeners.

Chorus - "My!

how the things do grow"

The birds were a great bother till Marcia thought of a lovely plan -

← look

*and Catharine Susan
did a grand trade in buttonholes.*

*- One penny each -
pins too -*

*And then she said “She knew she had a talent for dancing
so she would teach
all the ‘buttonholers’ ” –*

“Look at me and point the toe” –

“Chassez – step back –
one – two – three –

Oh! how stiff you are – you might be made of wood” –

Oh, Maria!!

its pounds

and

pounds!

an ebook published by Project Gutenberg Australia