

The Letter from Jude

Introduction

¹ To those who, having received the call, have been loved by God the Father and protected by Jesus Christ, From Jude, a servant of Jesus Christ, and the brother of James. ² May mercy, peace, and love be yours in ever increasing measure.

Warnings against moral corruption

³ Dear friends, while I was making every effort to write to you about our common salvation, I felt that I must write to you at once to encourage you to fight in defense of the faith that has once for all been entrusted to the keeping of Christ's people. ⁴ For there have crept in among you certain godless people, whose sentence has long since been pronounced, and who make the mercy of God an excuse for profligacy, and disown our only lord and master, Jesus Christ.

⁵ Now I want to remind you – but you already know it all – that, though the Lord delivered the people from Egypt, yet he afterward destroyed those who refused to believe in him; ⁶ and that even those angels, who did not keep to their appointed spheres, but left their proper homes, have been kept by him for the judgment of the great day in everlasting chains and black darkness. ⁷ Like Sodom and Gomorrah and the towns near them, which gave themselves up to fornication, and fell into unnatural vice, these angels now stand out as a warning, undergoing, as they are, punishment in eternal fire.

⁸ Yet in the same way these people, too, cherishing vain dreams, pollute our human nature, reject control, and malign the celestial beings. ⁹ Yet even Michael, the archangel, when, in his dispute with the devil, he was arguing about the body of Moses, did not venture to charge him with maligning, but said merely ‘The Lord rebuke you!’ ¹⁰ But these people malign whatever they do not understand; while they use such things as they know by instinct (like the animals that have no reason) for their own corruption. ¹¹ Alas for them! They walk in the steps of Cain; led astray by Balaam’s love of gain, they plunge into sin, and meet their ruin through rebellion like Korah. ¹² These are the people who are blots on your ‘love-feasts,’ when they feast together and provide without scruple for themselves alone. They are clouds without rain, driven before the winds; they are leafless trees without a vestige of fruit, dead through and through, torn up by the roots; ¹³ they are wild sea waves, foaming with their own shame; they are ‘wandering stars,’ for which the blackest darkness has been reserved for ever.

¹⁴ To these people, as to others, Enoch, the seventh in descent from Adam, declared – ‘See! The Lord has come with his hosts of holy ones around him, ¹⁵ to execute judgment on all people, and to convict all godless people of all their godless acts, which in their ungodliness they have committed, and of all the harsh words which they have spoken against him, godless sinners that they are!’

¹⁷ But you should, dear friends, recall what was foretold by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; ¹⁸ how they used to say to you – ‘As time draws to an end, there will be scoffers, who will be led by their godless passions.’ ¹⁹ These are the people – animal and unspiritual – who cause divisions. ²⁰ But you must, dear friends, build up your characters on the foundation of your most holy faith, pray under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, ²¹ and keep within the love of God, while waiting for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, to bring you to eternal life. ²² To some show pity, because they are in doubt. ‘Drag them out of the fire,’ and save them. ²³ To others show pity, but with caution, hating the clothing polluted by their touch.

Ascription

²⁴ To him who is able to guard you from falling, and to bring you into his glorious presence, blameless and rejoicing – ²⁵ to the one God, our Savior, be ascribed, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, glory, majesty, power, and dominion, as it was before time began, is now, and will be for all time to come. Amen.
